Proceedings of an African Migration Alliance Workshop

Edited by Catherine Cross et al
Dec 2006 304pp

978-0-7969-2165-9 Paperback £16.50

Migration by the poor is a scorching issue in the world. The African Migration Alliance held an international workshop to ask the question: What are Africa's policy concerns on migration? Here, the migration scholars of the continent give their views on free movement of peoples, xenophobia, human trafficking and other migration issues.

WOMEN, DEVELOPMENT AND TRANSPORT IN RURAL EASTERN CAPE, SOUTH AFRICA

Cheryl-Ann Potgieter,
Renay Pillay & Sharmila Rama
Jan 2007 56pp

978-07969-2168-0
Paperback £9.95

This monograph addresses the challenges facing policy and its implementation in respect of women, development and transport by concentrating on selected sites in the rural Eastern Cape province of South Africa.

A key indicator in social, political and economic development, transport is not simply about mobility and infrastructure, but also about socio-cultural roles and responsibilities that impede the development of women and girls.

IMAGINING THE CITY Memories and Cultures in Cape Town

Edited by Sean Field et al
Apr 2007 264pp

978-0-7969-2179-6
Paperback £17.50

Cities are not only made of buildings and roads, they are also constructed through popular imagination and spaces of representation. Imagining the City: Memories and Cultures in Cape Town presents an array of oral and visual histories drawn from people who live, work and creatively express themselves in the city.

This book explores the apartheid legacies of the city and demonstrates that cultural life flourished through people's resilience in spite of adversity. Authors move beyond apartheid history to analyse the reflective ways in which people are coming to terms with that history through memory work, performance and memorialisation. Other chapters provide contemporary views of local interactions, such as moments of urban violence or people negotiating the challenges of a globalised world.

MPUMALANGA

History and Heritage

Edited by Peter Delius

April 2007 420pp

978-1-86914-121-9 Hardback £34.95

Mpumalanga is known for its spectacular landscapes and its teeming game reserves. But it also has an extraordinarily rich and vivid history that has not been recognised. The province's value for heritage and its contribution to tourism, education and economic development remain undeveloped.

This groundbreaking study is aimed at ensuring that this province's compelling past lives on in the present. Written by some of South Africa's foremost researchers, and richly illustrated with historical and contemporary photographs, it tells a story beginning with the geological records of the first emergence of life on earth three to five billion years ago, and concluding with the dawn of an inclusive democracy in South Africa.

TRACKS IN A MOUNTAIN RANGE

Exploring the History of the uKhahlamba-Drakensberg

John Wright & Aron Mazel

April 2007 224pp

978-1-86814-409-9 Paperback £18.50

The declaration of the uKhahlamba-Drakensberg Park as a World Heritage Site – on the basis of its scenic beauty, high degree of biodiversity and the exceptional cultural value of its heritage of San rock art – provides an occasion for reflecting on the history and people of the region, from the earliest known times to the present. Constructed from archaeological and written sources, this book highlights the histories of the indigenous San hunter-gatherers and black farmers, as well as of the European colonisers. The accessible text is complemented by photographs of the landscape, rock art and archaeological finds.

LEARNING TO TEACH IN SOUTH AFRICA

Wally Morrow

May 2007 232pp

978-0-7969-2186-4 Paperback £17.50

Learning to Teach in South Africa is a collection of key texts by one of South Africa's most respected thinkers in education. The essays span the crucial years of democratic transition in South Africa. They display the essential unity of Morrow's thought as he reflects on the idea of epistemological access, a prominent feature of disciplined thinking about education in South Africa. He also discusses teacher education, the primacy of the practice of teaching in any system of education, and the continuing struggle with relativism, one of the strands of the Apartheid and colonialism legacies.

A Teacher Guide to Child Development
in Sub-Saharan Africa

Dec 2006 298pp

978-1-8688-8327-1

Paperback £15.95

Focusing on the child in the southern African environment, this work recognises that child development outcomes differ because of variations in culture, family structure, parenting, access to health services, and the child's experiences in and out of school. It questions the relevance of research from industrialised countries to southern Africa.
